BIOGRAPHY

VERL WORKMEN

More than a tagline—Predictable Greatness is a proven path to achieving consistent, sustainable success in both business and life.

Verl Workman is a keynote speaker, author, and the co-founder and CEO of Workman Success Systems, a business coaching company that specializes in developing high-performing companies and teams, using his unique approach that focuses on the totality of the team or company, developing leaders at every organizational level.

Verl knows that Greatness is Predictable and has built systems, processes, and procedures (tools, training, and trade secrets) to make Greatness Predictable by focusing on the right things and developing greatness-predicting habits.

As a father of 6, Verl believes that no other success can compensate for failure in the home. His focus on family is such that he co-founded Workman Success Systems with his oldest daughter Brianne to be the kind of place where his family would want to join in and add to the business. He's succeeded in that: 3 of his 6 children have helped Verl build Workman Success into what it is today.

Verl says his greatest success is measured by how he teaches his clients to have balance in their lives as they grow their businesses. For more than 20 years, Verl has led business owners, executives, leaders, and teams with enthusiasm, determination, unashamed optimism, and innovative systems that have created Greatness that is truly Predictable, transforming average business owners into multimillion dollar companies and producers who understand what's really important in life and real estate.

(385) 282-7112 verl@workmansuccess.com